

Allowing use of cell phones during flight is not in the best interest of the public in terms of safety or security. The only people it will benefit are a very small group of business people, and of course the companies providing the service. Please do not lift the current restrictions.